ABSTRACT

This annotated bibliography was compiled to assist physical education majors, especially those having a major interest in football and football coaching. The bibliography is limited to the areas of coaching techniques and philosophy, fundamentals, offense, defense, injuries, and conditioning at the high school and college level. These broader topics are, in some cases, broken down into more specialized areas. Literature available from the University of Georgia libraries is prominently featured, but publications not found in these libraries are also included. (JD)

PREFACE

This Annotated Bibliography was compiled during the Winter of 1977, at the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia, to assist physical education majors and especially those having a major interest in football and football coaching.

Football's upsurge in popularity during recent years, plus the author's enthusiastic interest in the subject, has lead to the undertaking of this project. There has been an extensive number of books, magazines, articles, and research projects published since the inception of the sport of football. So this bibliography is in no way intended to be comprehensive. Rather, the author has limited this Annotated Bibliography to the areas of coaching techniques and philosophy, fundamentals, offense, defense, injuries, and conditioning at the high school and college level. Also, these broader topics are, in some cases, broken down into more specialized areas. This project is further limited by the fact that, with a few exceptions, no publications are included that were published prior to 1950.

In the process of annotating the numerous titles mentioned in this ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY ON FOOTBALL it has been difficult to decide in which category some should be placed. There is inevitable overlapping. In all cases, the author has used the best judgement of which he is capable.

Since it is believed that every effort should be made to render the buying of books as easy as possible for the prospective purchaser, the name of the publication has been placed first, followed by author, publisher, and year of publication. This is contrary to the usual custom in bibliographies, especially those on academic and scientific subjects, but we trust it will meet with approval.

The first three chapters deal with publications found in the University of Georgia Libraries. The call number and location where the item can be found is placed directly after the date of publication. This is done to make it as easy as possible for the reader to locate the material of interest. The following three chapters deal with publications that are not found in the libraries at the University of Georgia. These are included because it is felt that they may be of value to interested readers.

We sincerely hope that the use of this Bibliography will make a substantial contribution to the knowledge of football by coaches, physical educators, and other enthusiasts.
